The Caucus Democrats Succeed in Getting Their Heads Together.

And Prepare a Substitute for the Last Vetoed Bill.

It Passes the House and is Received in the Senate.

Hon. D. F. Davis, the Republican Nominee Governor in Maine.

XLVI CONGRESS.SENATE.

WASHINGTON, June 26.

Mr. Vest asked the unanimous consent (out of the morning hour) to call up the concurrent resolution submitted by him yesterday declaring the remonetization of silver to its full restoration as money metal and its free coinage are demanded alike by the dictates of justice and wise statesmanship.

Mr. Chandler objected and the resolution went over.

Mr. Ferry introduced a bill to amend the act providing for the appointment of a Mississippi River Improvement Commission, which was referred.

Mr. Beck, from the Finance Committee, reported favorably on the joint resolution providing for a committee to investigate the best means of guarding and collecting the public revenue, and to ascertain whether any change is necessary in the method of making appropriations. The resolution was then passed. It provides that the committee shall consist of three members from each House, instead of five Senators and seven Representatives, as required by Mr. Beck's original resolution.

Mr. Ransom, from the Committee on Commerce, reported favorably on the House joint resolution authorizing the survey of the Mississippi river near Lake Concordia and Cowpen Bend, and it was passed. The Senate then took up the unfinished business of yesterday. Mr. Windom resuming his speech in defense of the record of the Republican party. He referred at length to the colored exodus, said he had encouraged it and gloried in it. Mr. Vance read a letter from colored men in North Carolina to show that there had never been any intimidation of colored voters in that State.

Mr. Davis, of West Virginia, read statistics in contradiction of those cited by Mr. Windom, and said the latter's figures were deceptive. The Senate then went into Executive session, and when the doors were reopened the presiding officer laid before it the Judicial Expenses bill, passed by the House to-day, and it was read a first and second time and referred to the Appropriation Committee.

HOUSE.

A proposition for revoking leaves of absence granted to members and requiring all absentees to report for duty immediately was made by Mr. Armfield, of North Carolina, but was objected to.

The bill making appropriations for certain Judicial expenses and the bill making appropriations to pay the fees of Marshals and their general deputies were reported from the Committee on Appropriations, ordered printed and referred to the Committee of the Whole.

The bill prohibiting political assessments came up as the business of the morning hour.

Mr. Garfield sought an opportunity of speaking against the bill but was cut off by the previous question, and the Republicans resorted to dilatory tactics.

Mr. Cox submitted the Conference Committee's report on the Letter Carriers' bill, and after a short discussion, it was adopted. The bill, as agreed to, appropriates $415,000 for the payment of letter carriers during the ensuing fiscal year, and $71,000 for the increased salaries of letter carriers during the present fiscal year.

Mr. Gibson, of Louisiana, introduced a bill amending the Mississippi River Improvement Commission Act. Referred.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Judicial Expenses bill, Mr. Blackburn, of Kentucky, in the chair.

Mr. Weaver, of Iowa, offered an amendment providing that the Commissioners of Jurors mentioned in the bill shall be appointed from the principal political party in the district in which the court is held opposed to that to which the Clerk of the Court belongs. The amendment was adopted. Many other amendments were proposed, but all were rejected. The committee then rose, and the bill was reported to the House and was passed by a vote of yeas, 99, nays, 67. All the Greenbackers present, except Forsyth, voted in the affirmative. The House then adjourned.

Success in the Stock Market.

Few people understand how large fortunes are amassed so rapidly in stock operations. Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, N. Y., have just published "Two Winning Rules for Success" and full details, free. That any one can operate. Mailed free. Their new combination system of dealing in stocks is wonderfully profitable. By this method thousands of orders, in various sums, are pooled into one immense capital, and co-operated as a mighty whole, thus securing to each shareholder all the advantages of vast capital and best skill. Profits divided every 30 days. $15 would make $75 profit, $100 would return $1,000, or 10 per cent. on the stock in the month, and so on, according to the market. A New York Fashion Editor and prominent newspaper correspondent, made over 375 per cent. profit on an investment, Oct. 5th, 1878. Many others are doing as well or better. Large or small amounts can be used with equal proportionate success by this system. All kinds of stocks and bonds wanted. Government bonds supplied. FIRE.

Another Mysterious Kindling—Capt. Goddard's Dwelling House Burns Down in Maryville.

MARYVILLE, June 25, 1879.

MR. EDITOR: The fire fiend again visited our town at 2 o'clock to-day, laying the large residence of Captain E. Goddard, Clerk and Master, in ashes. It was a very large frame building, erected about the year 1852, and recently neatly painted and repaired. A new frame meat house had been built in the rear, and near the residence. Capt. Goddard was out in the field, some distance from town, at work, the family had, only a few minutes before the alarm, gone on a visit to another part of the town, leaving only Henry Grizzard, the nephew of Mrs. Goddard, who was a few days ago dashed from a horse and still lame, about the premises, and he was up stairs in a back room, and did not discover the fire until it was under headway. When first discovered, it was in the meat house, and the first parties that got to it say the inside of the meat house next to the residence was all on fire, and in a very short time the flames were issuing from under the roof of the meat house against the dwelling, which quickly ignited and burned so rapidly that it was difficult to approach near it. The wind was blowing a sharp gale, and the house being very dry, it was not over an hour from the time the fire was discovered until the garden in rear of the meat house and the house, located in the yard, were all burned to the ground. Most of his furniture and household goods were carried out, but his loss is very heavy, as the house had to be abandoned so soon after the fire would reach them. The only theory that can possibly account for its origin is, that his little girl carried some ashes this morning from the stove and poured them in the garden in rear of the meat house, and the breeze carried sparks to the building, but this is not very probable, as it is several feet from the meat house to the garden, and there was no grass to communicate it, and besides, that side of the house was the last to take fire. No fire had been in this building for three months, and there was nothing to start one.

Fortunately no other buildings were near in the line of the wind, for coals were carried near 200 yards and set the roof of another house, occupied by James Scott on fire, which was soon extinguished, and it was reported that the roof of the hall, some distance farther, also took fire once, but these were easily extinguished, as everybody was out and on the qui vive.

Capt. Goddard has the sympathy of the community, as he is a highly respected by everybody, and popular in the vicinity. He had no insurance on his property, so the loss falls very heavily upon him in the present time.

It is remarkable that, notwithstanding the frequent fires in our town, we have no organization, no means of fighting them, and no fire department, and everybody is captain and commanding everybody else.

The Maryville Press on Our Fourth

The following encouraging words are from the Maryville Democrat:

We, too, have received one of those beautiful illustrated and worded invitations to attend the celebration of the 4th of July at Knoxville, which promises to be the grandest demonstration of the kind, that East Tennessee has ever had an opportunity of witnessing. We have lacked up our invitation in a conspicuous place in our office and never fail to call the attention of visitors to it. Having thus had an opportunity of learning the disposition of our people upon this subject by specially calling their attention to it, we feel safe in saying that the grand continental army of old Blount will be there in full force.

Our citizens are especially proud that the Executive Committee have elected Gen. R. N. Hood, one of our honored citizens, Chief Marshal of the day, and we take the liberty, in their name, of thanking the Committee for the honor conferred upon him and the county, and promising that old Blount will not be wanting in anything on that occasion, to entitle her to the distinction conferred upon her. Through one of her esteemed citizens, we have been authorized by the managers of the K. & C. Railroad to say that there will be two trains from Maryville to Knoxville on that day, one leaving Maryville at the usual time, 8:30 a. m., and returning at 4:30 p. m., and one leaving Maryville about 6 p. m., and returning after the fireworks are over at night, and that tickets will be sold for the round trip at 40 cents, good for the entire day, so that persons going up in the morning can return on the same ticket at night.

Let everybody go and have their patriotism thoroughly revived.

The following is from the Index:

We return thanks to the committee for an invitation to attend the celebration at Knoxville on the Fourth, and hope to be present on that occasion, as there will probably be no grand demonstration at this place. At Knoxville our Nation's birthday is to be celebrated with a big display, and all East Tennessee is expected to assist. We notice Gen. R. N. Hood is to be Chief Marshal of the day, and we expect that Maryville will turn out and help her neighbor do the thing up in style.

It Seems Impossible

That a remedy made of such common, simple plants as Hops, Buchu, Mandrake, Dandelion, &c., should make so many and such marvelous and wonderful cures as Hop Bitters do, when old and young, rich and poor, Pastor and Doctor, Lawyer and Editor, all testify to having been cured by them, you must believe and try them yourself, and doubt no longer. See other column.

One Hundred and Fifty Dollars in the Firemen's contest—Fifty Dollars to be added if the funds justify it. This will be a splendid exhibition, one of the grandest ever witnessed in Knoxville.

THE CLOSING PAGEANT.
The closing exercises will consist of a magnificent display of Fire-works at night, such as East Tennessee has not witnessed for a long time, if ever. Persons returning on trains can witness it and get off in time.

TRANSPORTATION.

All the Railroads, with a liberality unprecedented in their history, will transport the vast throng to and from Knoxville at exceedingly low rates. The round trip from Bristol and Chattanooga will be Three Dollars. For intermediate points see the Circular of the E. T. V. & G. Railroad. CONCLUSION.

Every effort will be made to make the thousands of visitors to the occasion comfortable. The streets will be thoroughly sprinkled so as to lay the dust, and ice water in the greatest abundance will be placed at the corners of the principal streets for the accommodation of everybody. The Hotels and Boarding Houses will be reasonable in their charges, and the numerous Bands in attendance will enliven the occasion with their music.
